DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except (e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Claims 1-21 and 24-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Landsberger (US 6,113,599).

Landsberger discloses a distraction device including: a first anchor plate or first transmitting means 151 made of bioresorbable material, the first anchor plate having structure for attachment to bone, i.e., fingers; a second anchor plate or second transmitting means 152 made of bioresorbable material, the second anchor plate having structure for attachment to bone, i.e., fingers; an expansion means not integral with the first and second plates; a clutch or screw actuated expansion mechanism (161, 162); and bioresorbable screws 153, 154 for attaching the plates to bone (Fig. 2, col. 10, lines 50-67, col. 11 and col. 12, lines 1-27).

The method steps of claims 25-31 are inherently performed when the Landsberger device is used for tissue distraction.

Response to Arguments

The Terminal Disclaimer filed on April 16, 2007 has been approved. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-21 and 24-31 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
